NASEEM AL RASHEDIAH

2014 grey, stallion

Under Mr. Rashed A.Rahman Al Jasmi's supervision, Al Rashediah Stud has recently rebuild its team to an extraordinary level.

As it goes without saying, the magnificent mind of, Ms. Eileen Verdieck, whom has been and shall always be truly motivated as the director of Al Rashediah. With the remarkable drive of Mr. Franck Boetto, the general manager of the stud, internationally.

Whom pieced together an indestructible, confident and dedicated team of members whom united -have a singular goal to thrive towards, which are united by a dedicated barn manager and foal caretaker Ms. Christina Doornberg and the supervision of Mr. Chris van Schalkwijk - who's main goal is to insure the farm and the stud run smoothly as the maintenance manager at the farm surrounded by the glittering turquoise waters, truly making it a piece of heaven on earth.

With the prestige stallion Naseem al Rashediah a trainer and handler with the utmost vigour could be eligible to stand by his side, thus undoubtedly, Mr Giacomo Capacci who is honoured by doing so. As already known as one of the best trainers in the showing today.

Returning back to the living legend Naseem, when an experience to cultivate an ability to make judicious decisions combined with the steadfast commitment required to develop a serious breeding program. Thus the mere idea of bringing a new stallion to the program is a major decision not to be taken lightly. Specially when a herd of Arabians of astonishing quality with their rare blood lines which cant take the risk of tainting the breeding program, which is filled with exciting possibilities tracing back to strong and one of a kind bloodlines to ancestors whom we call legends today.

“Breeding SE horses is based on the journey, not the destination -as it is with being successful with anything in life” as Mr Rashed had clearly stated.

Naseem Al Rashediah’s genetic potential was immediately seen by the breeders when they decided to chose the world champion SE stallion: Al Adeed al Shaqab as the sire and as his Dam Nabaweyah Ezzain. The result was nothing less then spectacular. When Naseem was born, he had great beauty and qualities as a young Arabian colt, not only as a SE Arabian. The traits he had inherited from his bay breathtaking dam and his legendary sire -a stallion so unique that he was used for the first time as the icone for Arabian Horse World.

I still remember when I saw for the first time a picture of Naseem Al Rashediah. I have never forgotten his special look almost familiar to his sire in the best ways and only then all was confirmed when he made his debut in front everyone to witness in Menton when it all started, not just his show career, but as a sire to many foals to come and multiple different breeding programs around the globe.

As Mr Rashed said in one recent interview: “breeding the straight Egyptian horse with its closed gene pool and few numbers has more boundaries. More limits and harder to do than breeding other lines of Arabians. It is a challenge. It isn’t something anybody can do like a flip of a coin or a magic trick. You have to study to breed the best horse possible.”

This was exactly the case of Naseem, something unique and exclusive with a royal pedigree that can match perfectly in every program of straight Egyptian breeders but that can be used in every breeding program regardless whether straight Egyptian mares or otherwise.

Naseem's show career after winning some international shows became global with earning the Golden Straight Egyptian World Championship title in 2016 and the year after with his tremendous impact one of the most competitive show there is: Menton, where he had glamoured the audience with his power as just a young colt in the championship. Rising him high up to a pedestal only a few straight Egyptian horses in the World have had ever reached such a level before.

After taking a break from the showring, committing himself to many as a sire to many programs, with unique and separate ideologies towards their own personal breeding philosophies.

Naseem without a doubt could easily make it a challenge to his fellow stallions in the showring, once again aside his experienced handler: Giacomo Capacci.

Naseem's many fans have been waiting to see his next debut -and many more shall not lose that opportunity at they had once before to stand witness, to what legendary performance they have been hearing of whenever he is mentioned.

Naseem is genuinely a horse that has it all. Judges were unanimous in their scoring, especially in head, body and type again and again. It's a real challenge to beat him

-as he close to near perfection. Naseem is one of the most correct stallions I've seen in my entire life and I feel honoured to witness such a young and promising horse, that has only started his impact on the Arabian horse community as a whole -with a long road of achievements and victories of his own and his gets. During our visit at Al Rashediah Stud we had the chance to ask to Rashed Al Jasmi:

TuttoArabi: Tell us your first impression when Naseem was born:*

Rashed Al Jasmi: As a breeder specially breeding SE horse I immediately wanted to pinpoint what characteristics did the colt have from the moment he was born, whether is was from his mere dam or sire or his* famous grandparents. But I couldn't quite put my finger on it as he would switch from his dams charismatic pride as which he carries himself to the lingering look his sire used to tease the audience with. with every passing moment like every passing wave on an sea of potential, quickly switches from the best qualities of both sire and dam and his own grandparents whom already kept their stamp behind this arabian horse world we call a community.

TA: Did you use Naseem only with straight Egyptian?

Rashed: I know Naseem has bred to multiple mares around the globe, some even more non straight as Egyptians himself as we know SE's are an limited breed within the Arabian horse breed. As Naseem has bred many mares around the globe from the States to Europe, Middle East and Africa. It would be merely foolish for one to think that all of the different mares to my special boy are only SE breeders. But I personally am a devoted breeder to the SE horse but I have also mingled in the dark arts, with a couple of non straight mares from different varieties of bloodlines and damlines, to not be a hypocrite myself by telling people to breed with my stallion to whom, so I have adopted myself a few variety of mares from different bloodlines and lineages, such as Jamaal, El Shaklan, Bey Shah, Padron Psyche and Polish via Bask bred mares.

TA: Tell us which are the best foals made by Naseem at Al Rashediah in your opinion?

Rashed: In my opinion any coming foal is better than the other, so how can I decide my own bias judgement towards my personal breeding program and the horses I deeply and truly love and care for. But I will let you and my fellow breeders be the judge of that.

TA: Tell us about the show program of Naseem if you can?

When will he start Menton?

Rashed: What I can say about Naseem's future show debut is yet to come, and I'm not the one who will spoil a good surprise. □
